International Students

“All new students have been successful in their education to date, and have met the entrance criteria for the course of study on which they are embarking.”

Scudamore (2013)

What can we say about NNS students?

As a consequence of this we can make assumptions about what students

- are able to do on entering the university
- will need continued support with

Some of these assumptions will be based on which entry requirement the student has met

Do your NNS students need to have competencies in or an understanding of:

- Grammar
- Vocabulary (both general and discipline specific vocabulary)

- Speaking
- Listening (e.g. distinguishing between main points and examples in lectures)
- Reading
- Writing (e.g. in a style appropriate to the genre)

- Developing criticality
- Use of sources
- Citation
- Academic honesty

- Cultural norms e.g. male/female interactions
- Culturally-specific references

UG / PGT English Language Requirements

- Secondary education taught in the medium of English
- Two years' degree study in the medium of English
- An English Language Test (usually IELTS)
- An appropriate pass from ELTU Preessional Course D or Course E
- International Foundation Year with ISC (UG only)

Read the example essay written by a student taking the IELTS exam.

- How far off would you say this student is from achieving the IELTS statements, and thus being of a level suitable for UoL study?
- What writing skills are (not) evident from this sample?

Student output sample 2

Here is an extract from a longer essay written by a student who was exiting the ELTU's preessional programme.

- What skills are displayed here that a direct entry student (like the one on the previous page) may not have?

Scenarios

Look at the 3 scenarios

- Identify the 'problem'
- What can the tutor do?

Advice for working with NNS

- Be aware of culturally-specific references
 - “You don’t understand? Okay, well think of it like this. Imagine the nucleus is made up of John Lennon and Paul McCartney, and then you’ve got George Harrison...” ☠
- Feedback – aim for clarity
 - “On occasion your paragraphs lack coherence, with a multitude of disparate ideas colliding in a maelstrom of analysis” ☠
 - “Make sure each paragraph has one clear main idea” 😊
- Feedback – less is more
 - Help students prioritise
 - If you are confident identifying specific language issues, then great. If not, refer the student to the ELTU.
